Principles of Agrarian Law

Conflicts in relation to agrarian law occur a lot in Indonesia. Why does this happen? Is it because the legal instruments available are not sufficient for the people's needs? Agrarian law in Indonesia is regulated under Law Number 5 Year 1960 concerning Agrarian Subjects ("UUPA") and its implementing regulations. This article will examine if the UUPA does comply with the people's needs and will discuss the normative principles as set out in the UUPA, which are often debated.

Nationality Principle

According to Article 1 paragraph (1) of UUPA, the territory of Indonesia consists of all land, water and all the people of Indonesia, that unites the Nation of Indonesia. All land, water and space, including the natural resources, contained in it are under God's grace and considered as National wealth.

Number 40 of 2007 concerning Limited Liability Company

(“Company Law”). According to Article 1 number 1 Company Law, a Limited Liability Company, hereinafter referred to as Company, means a legal entity which constitutes an alliance of capital established pursuant to a contract in order to carry on business activities with an authorised capital all of which is divided into shares and which fulfils the requirements stipulated in this law and its implementing regulations.

Based on the provision above, it can be stated that shares are an indivisible unit of capital, expressing the contractual relationship between the Company and the shareholder. According to Article 7 paragraph (2) Company Law, each founder of a Company must subscribe shares at the time the company is established.
